Subject: Happy New Year!

" I heard of EcoComfort from a work colleague and the feedback was very positive.

Having to approach a foreign company to install a Heat Recovery Ventilation Unit into the new house seemed unusual to start with.

But after comparing offers from the local business with overall package proposed by EcoComfort i.e. system and materials plus site visit and installation, there was no doubt about the choice.

The system is a Zehnder Comfoair 550 with Ventiflex piping for distribution.

The process went very quickly and smooth from project phase, to offer/signing the contract, mobilising the team and execution/commissioning.

I was very impressed with the professionalism and good communication shown by the work team as well as the people based in the office.

Not involved in logistics for a company working abroad so everything was hassle free.

I highly recommend EcoComfort for their efficient solution, cost-saving and easy to deal with.
